

The contents of the folder of the desired test should be copied to the main library of the code.

This Does not apply to the contents of "Sampling Series_Example". This folder contains a complete example of how the code should be run.